COVER LETTER

GOOD WORK GETS IGNORED WHEN THE STORY IS TOO SMALL.

Dear Hiring Team,

> The best work still gets ignored when the story is smaller than the thing itself. I've spent nearly two decades closing that gap, and I'd like to close it for your team.

I'm writing about a senior marketing or partnerships role on your team. What I bring is the full go-to-market engine in one person: the positioning, the partner and demand programs, the sales enablement, and the numbers that show it worked.

- Partner revenue at scale. At Ericsson (Vonage) I scaled EMEA partner programs from launch to $200M+ in influenced revenue and raised partner engagement 45%.
- Marketing that moves deals. An incentive program and a bundled Salesforce offer I led shortened sales cycles 30%, lifted enterprise win rates 15% and raised average contract value 20%.
- A seller's ear. I run full-cycle sales myself today, with cold reply rates as high as 32% on AI-assisted outbound. I know what a rep needs from marketing because I am one.

I work the way a small, fast team does. I write the message, build the page, wire the lead path, run the campaign and read the numbers, with an AI agent stack that lets one operator ship what usually takes several. For you that means fewer handoffs, faster launches and one accountable name on the result.

My portfolio, with case studies and writing samples, is at mkparrish.com/portfolio. I'd welcome 20 minutes to hear what you're building and show you where I can add to it.

Thank you,

Mary Kate Parrish
