POSITIONING

MK Parrish is a senior growth operator and writer who turns unclear market language into assets a revenue team can use: positioning, web copy, ABM narrative, founder POV, product messaging, sales follow-up, and content systems.

The differentiator is not only voice. It is commercial translation. The work starts with the buyer decision, then builds the words, proof, and handoff that make the next action easier.

WHAT THIS PROVES

- GTM strategy with writer-level execution: ICP, trigger, offer, proof, CTA, follow-up.
- ABM thinking: account-specific pain, buying committee language, tailored proof placement.
- Product marketing: category POV, claims, objections, sales enablement, launch copy.
- Executive voice: founder and leader content that sounds like a human with taste and conviction.

HIGH-SIGNAL LINE

I do not make brands sound louder. I make the buying decision easier to understand, easier to trust, and easier to act on.
