

— OBJECTIVE & ASSUMPTIONS

Build category awareness and a qualified reservation pipeline ahead of IPX's public market open — awareness paired with a leading indicator (verified interest), not impressions for their own sake. For a pre-launch financial platform, the job is to teach a new asset category — fractional IP ownership — well enough that real demand exists the moment the exchange opens.

- Audience: Investor / believer segment
 - Budget: $50,000 working media
- Market: US only (SEC-compliant)
 - Flight: 6 weeks, back-loaded to launch

— AUDIENCE & POSITIONING

- 1 Alt-asset / DeFi-native investors — yield-seekers fluent in stablecoins & fractional ownership. Highest intent, lowest education cost.
- 2 Culture & creator-economy believers — fans who want to own the upside of culture they love. IPX's emotional hook.
- 3 Accredited investors seeking alt yield — smaller, higher-value; retargeting- and search-led.

Message A/B: "Own the culture you believe in" (emotional) vs. "Royalties, minus the gatekeepers" (rational). In a new category, the winning message outweighs the winning channel.

— CHANNEL ALLOCATION

CHANNEL	ROLE	SHARE	BUDGET
Paid Social Meta · TikTok · X	Category education at scale	55%	$27,500
Search Google · Bing	Capture existing intent + brand defense	25%	$12,500
Influencer 1 partner + whitelisting	Trust transfer for a new category	20%	$10,000

Paid social carries the majority because a brand-new asset category has to be taught before it can be sold — the cheapest scaled reach for that education job. Search is capped at 25% deliberately: pre-launch search volume for this category is largely a function of the awareness we're creating ourselves, so over-funding it just inflates CPCs against a ceiling that doesn't exist yet. The influencer line is smallest in dollars and highest in leverage — it buys something media spend alone cannot: third-party trust for a first-time investor on an unproven, regulated platform.

— THE INFLUENCER PARTNERSHIP — 1 PARTNER

Humphrey Yang (@humphreytalks · 3.4M TikTok) — screened against Milan Singh, Tori Dunlap, Vivian Tu, and Rick Beato, and selected as the largest genuinely explanatory finance creator in the category: built on teaching mechanics rather than hype, which is the register a securities platform needs from its one paid voice, with a clean compliance history. Deal: 3 videos + Spark Ads whitelisting rights, so the paid-social budget amplifies his content directly instead of competing with it for the same attention. Unique tracking link for clean attribution.

Weight spend toward paid social because a new category must be taught before it can be sold; use search to harvest the demand that already exists; and spend the smallest, most deliberate line on one trusted voice — because trust, not reach, turns a first-time visitor into a Founding Member.

— MEASUREMENT & OPTIMIZATION

- Attribution: strict UTM taxonomy, GA4 + server-side / CAPI tracking against browser signal loss.
- Lead grading: verified interest (KYC started or deposit intent) is tracked as a distinct event from a bare email capture — budget is judged on qualified pipeline, not raw volume.
- Cadence: weekly optimization; reallocate toward whichever channel is producing the cheapest qualified lead, not the cheapest click.

— COMPLIANCE IS A MEDIA INPUT

- ! Ad-platform gating: Meta, Google & TikTok pre-certify securities/financial advertisers — clear in week one or the flight slips.
- ! Influencer = paid testimonial for a security — stricter than a standard #ad; legal-approved claims & disclosures required.
- ! No performance promises in creative — lead with access & ownership, never returns.
